I was born in Edinburgh and trained at the Bristol Old Vic Theatre School.

I worked as an actor, presenter and performer for several years in theatres throughout the UK, on television, radio and film. I co-founded the comedy improvisation company 'Instant Wit' where I did over 300 shows in 18 years.

I have worked as a facilitator, coach and actor in corporate organisations for 20 years in the UK, Europe, Africa, the Middle East and the USA.

In 2010 I set up Frank Partners with Anna. During that time, we have developed a wide range of programmes for our clients, in the areas of leadership, management and personal development.

I have designed programmes for clients such as Innocent, QinetiQ, NAO, Vodafone Qatar, Christie's and Centrica.

I am trained in Occupational Testing (Level A & B), NLP (Practitioner), MBTI (OPP), Firo (Team Focus), Transactional Analysis (TA 101), Presence (Patsy Rodenburg) and Story telling (Narrativ).

I have been married for 20 years and have two young adult sons. I sing in a five-man a cappella group, 'Kettle of Fish'. I run 10K and half marathon races. I enjoy cooking, eating, drinking good wine. I love connecting with friends and family.

I am passionate about the theatre and see as much as I can. Ditto the movies. I like watching international rugby, especially Scotland at Murrayfield. I take a keen interest in politics and current affairs.

I love my work nearly as much as I love my family.

'You have a lovely quality' Patsy Rodenburg

'I know I can trust Neil to bring a sharp enquiring brain, well judged creative solutions, energy, presence and a great team. I know that we'll work incredibly hard and have lots of fun.' Catrina Hewitson, Consultant.

'In the work we do together, Neil is simply brilliant. He is able to play that multi-faceted role of being in the conversation and then offering powerful reflections, challenge, insights and advice as needed.' Mark Manley, Partner, Gaia Leadership
